

A Handbook for

A LEARNING COMMUNITY PERSPECTIVE
in
CONGREGATIONS

Christian formation and Christian education by John Littleton - 2008

This practical handbook is about Christian learning and is written for use in congregations and parishes. Clergy and lay leaders will discover distinctive features about a Christian learning community, which will help them to build an effective educational ministry for their whole congregation. Included in this 26 page handbook are practical applications of a learning community approach, questions for individual and group reflection/discussion, workshop suggestions and many other resources.

John Littleton is an experienced Christian educator. He is a priest in The Anglican Diocese of Adelaide and Consultant in Christian Education for Parishes. Over a period of 37 years he has served in three Dioceses in The Anglican Church of Australia as an educator, parish priest and consultant. John brings an ecumenical outlook to his ministry and is a learning community practitioner.

The insights of the learning community perspective revealed in this handbook are exciting and inspire a fresh look at education and mission in congregations.
